

IMPORTANT WARRANTY INFORMATION

Thank you for choosing TAYLOR... The finest performance ignition wire available.

At Taylor Cable we take every measure to manufacture our product to meet the highest quality specifications and standards available. However, from time to time it is possible that a product may become defective during use. If such should occur, Taylor Cable will make every attempt within a reasonable request and under our warranty guidelines to make the warranty replacement process as smooth as possible.

These ignition wires will withstand temperatures up to 600° F. They are NOT guaranteed against burns from direct contact with a header or exhaust manifold and/or higher temperatures or radiant heat in excess of 600° F. For the best Performance and Protection from heat under extreme conditions, we highly recommend the use of our Space Age Boot Protectors, as listed below:
